

Boundary Conditions
δύναμις

μύκησλογία

πολιτισμός

ενέργεια

The fourth annual newsletter

MMXXI

anno domini

The author has spent many a day investigating praxis and theoria within the labyrinthine laboratories, the chambers of the fractal hyperspace of the NRPRI and the enchanted realms of old forest in its surrounding mountains. The tessellations of zones within our walls and spaces as a cultural bastion are like the armored patches of a tortoise shell. Calling it like it is and making the most of it, let it rot like a saprotroph and arise from the muck like the lotus...

STILL ON OUR FEET: here presented is our quaternary memorandum; playing the first few notes of our song, we are still upon the dawn of our work. For all we have learned, we have paddled but a few strokes into the sea of knowing. And so the river flows on into it on the edge of our worlds upon worlds...

Fig 1. Behold a vast huckleberry habitat, incredible bounties of mountains

---

What we are DOING:

Wildcrafting, regenerative forest gardening, conducting research on topics relating to a human cultural permanence regarding homesteadcraft in the northern rockies, consulting and designing sites and strategies with those who would magnify the fertility of their world. We are creating potent medicines out of what renewable elements the mountains give freely and abundantly, to heal and renew the communities of life. We have been creating strongholds of biodiversity in a landscape getting bulldozed, and have been creating art that reflects a collective unconscious grasping towards this type of a life-affirming vision. We've been generating data, refining our vision, documenting and preparing, teching into next levels of capability.

---

What we are CALLING INTO BEING:

Training other designers who can help sculpt the kind of landscapes we owe future generations to begin now. Creating expansive self-supporting systems enabling a non-centralized multigenerational wealth. Manifesting higher ordered branches of embodied resolution of the positive growth fractals. Facilitating the harvesting of resources in the places that would be completely denuded and disrespected by our current crop of bought foresters. Unlocking pathways, creating bridges and doors to new forms of bioregional land stewardship for transport and industry. Let us set sail on the wings of innovation...

---

The year in review...

Without doubt, our investment in the fungal craft of both lab and field mycology has dominated our research efforts in 2021. If there was ever an epistemological basis upon which one could stand, it would be the phenomenology involved in the whole process of mycology. To dive deep into these concepts this year in our research - this is to be said with as maximum level of confidence equal to the very existence of any kind of mushroom - this was no mistake, and certainly not a waste of time or unworthy goal. Believe us when we say we can work with mushrooms to do such a variety of events, it would shatter your mind whoever you are to conceive of it all at once. Food, medicine, bioremediation, water purification, waste removal, edge yields; you cannot question the mushrooms existence, for ultimately it's cousin or other will eat you when you are gone and devour your house one day. If only we could convey all of what we've learned in a brief space such as this...

We've been looking into new land tenure situations and have sought them out across the latitudes in some dramatic and powerful landscapes for where Spirit might summon us to migration. Let us know if you suspect your land wants to aggrade into a syntropic agroforestry situation.

---

IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD...

...development has run rampant. Allies have reneged upon agreements, patches of land have been shaped by force to fit a mold - unique spots and microsites have been built over with the stamps of a catalogue. Our birds gaze upon a landscape ravaged with compacting disturbance events. Our forests are raped, the author has woefully beheld drainage upon drainage devastated by embarrassingly irresponsible state and government agencies. We aim to correct this, and co create the biological structures that can carry our culture through catastrophe. Our goal is the liberation of the spirit of human invention. We focus on the edges and margins of society, carefully trying to implant deep orders of stability that would stave off a depressions, civil wars, top down societal reformatting... We must take our drought mitigation measures into our own hands, and manage our mountains in ways to amplify their resources rather than treat them like a dying organism we need to extract the last of life out of. Even still, we have much of what we need to restore our community and world.

A plethora of anthropostaple crops suffered due to growing conditions 2021. The right sites and conditions seemed to produce incredible yields for some, but many of our wild biocultural staples, such as the much celebrated huckleberry, were toasted, baked, and fried by our summer heat-death wave. The amalgam of transnational frequency control grid, runaway budgeted military equipment put-putting in the atmopshere, and destabilized climate chaos, has created hellstorms resulting in massive crop failures and further ecosystem collapse. Hundreds of thousands of acres burned; stay tuned for the silver lining on that. August brought uncharacteristic rain, a saving grace though odd. This kicked off one of 2021's major agricultural boons, and the theme of our development this year in Boundary Conditions; an incredible autumn mushroom conditions.

Fig 2. A priceless treasure of mushroom producing landscape

---

... REGIONALLY

The 11th annual INPC was a success. We have broken deeper into grounds, and learned much on how to do these primeval, necessary acts of creative expression. A PDC is being planned for late may in 2022 in Eastern Washington State. Opportunities abound and many people continue to move to this bioregion.

---

GLOBALLY ...

High dimensional parasites feed off of the crippled life force of many. Many groups are doing good work, but nothing can stop what's coming. Yet 'tis a grim misfortune to see so many erode in their values and ironically buy into the war machine in the double-spoken name of untruths and displaced rituals. We can only seek to play our part and be a node of myriad regeneration, to renew and revitalize any inhabitants of our earthbound space.

Oh, that living world-soul that has been under attack. Collective consciousness is bartering its future for its comfort. Trapped in internal narcotic fantasies, masses of people choose to put their heads down than look up in any direction and command courage to see the looming, profound evil that actively terrorizes and tortures humanity. Staggering and sweltering is the monstrosity being erected upon the face of our civilization, the war has penetrated into our homes. Do even the designers see the subtle shifts, refractions of continental shifts in our magentosphere? Meanwhile the sublimity of the cosmos continueth to flicker on.

Veritably so, indeed, we are strengthened in spiritual courage and resolve to see many people stepping into their power. Resting in the deepest of knowings, 'tis never too late for a soul to convert its heart unto the blessed foundation of a real, living truth. We seek to manifest only the highest of vibrational modes. These are the acoustics we wish to reverberate in our sacred landscapes. Flourishing, abundance, mind still comes to know itself. A divergent multitude of possibilities for the lot of all, where the children of the earth command the freedom to choose what future to engineer for themselves, and the manifold trophic strata of biotic communities capable of existence on this fine land reverberate in resounding harmonics.

and thus time continues to advance...

---

SMITHWERKS CREATIVE STUDIOS MEDIA

We have released several new films, and are working on more. What a delight it has been, what a wonder indeed. Some of them are accessible over the webpages under education headings, feel free to learn from them. The botanical twists have been a fruitful change in direction. We continue to document and generate content spanning a wide range of scopes, excited to develop ways of disseminating it further.

---

Fig. 3 The author at the institute mycology lab w/ grainspawn, petri, LC

---

... ALL THE WAY

We believe that our lives are not jokes. The mantle of responsibility has been custom upon the living generations, who will shoulder it, and carry the torch forward? People recognize that reality has become very strange, yet are reticent, if not outright scared, to admit just how. Many people have such polluted brain chemistry that they can't even see it. Yet there is a knowing among the self initiated that the humane genome will live on.

Men, women, children and beasts lie wide awake sleeping with thick veils pulled thick over their eyes. Some will choose the virtual reality, many will beg for the promises of the new age. Hallucinating on delusion, they dance with a cult of death. Forsooth, that we must work at every second to prevent further genocide, and to enforce ourselves for difficult times to come. Yet trees still grow in the forest, even as their ranges are completely shocked by cataclysm. We seek to be the mycelium they use to communicate. We seek to create the fruiting bodies that firmly but gently establish the reality of transcendental reality of Love, even in an age of annihilation.

Graphene oxides, parasite hydras, nano tech, international militarized propaganda. Sophisticated and brilliant measures, hundreds of years of planning as demonic forces assert their authority in these lower realms. Know thy enemy and purify thy mind. Ground your smart meter, hardwire your internet, keep your phones in faraday spaces to intercept their harmful influence. We still have ways of removing the enemies weapons from inside of us. Detoxify your insides with zeolites, fulvic acids, silica. Get those heavy metals and nano-tech out of your body. Parasite cleanse. Create Faraday spaces to occupy when stationary. Electrically ground your skin and spiritually ground your resolve. Build healthy soil, get your hands in it and grow forest gardens. Stash as much food as you can legitimately deal with. Create water harvesting earthworks, implement off grid life support systems, trade with producers and render thyself ungovernable.

Unfortunately we may still be near the beginning of these trials, hardly in the rolling foothills. As for us in what we are doing over here at the institute, we will pierce through illusions, no spell shall bind our vision. We look forward to rebuilding a better civilization than we've known in recent times, reclaiming a lost heritage. We do not hesitate to venture forth unto the unknown; on our feet shall we face the leviathan. Get in touch should you wish to work together in collective efforts to survive whats coming. Underestimate not thy opponent; but even more gravely, miscalculate not thyself nor thine own potentials. What are the stories you will tell to those who will inherit the earth? Will you be apart of it? We affirm absolute commitment to Good and the Truth of our high dimensional realities.

— J Smith, author

---

Quite.

Boundary Conditions

Physical & digital access:

www.boundaryconditions.online

phone:
(952) 457 - 3555

www.NRPRI.org

email: Boundaryconditions@protonmail.com

office: 6558 chinook st
mailing: PO box 967
BF ID 83805

---